In this way, shooters are provided with consistent and accurate performance data which can be used to compare and select the bullets which are best for their application. Combined with Applied Ballistics software products, this bullet performance data is also used to calculate highly accurate trajectories which put your shots on target at long range. Dimensioned drawings are provided for each bullet, as well as detailed stability data which is useful in determining suitable twist rates for bullets in various environments. New for the Second Edition Performance data is reported for over 90 different types of 22 rimfire ammo from various length and twist barrels. Also, the upper limit of rifle bullet calibers tested was increased to include .416 and .510 caliber. A complete list of included bullets can be found on the Applied Ballistics website
